Consultation

Independent counseling and clarification for youth in vocational and educational transitions is our core competency.

We offer support based on the needs of young people and take into account individual situations as well as the social and economic environment.

Important facts about counselling

- Counselling takes place at the respective school and is for youth in 100S and 110S.
- As parents, you are welcome to join the sessions.
- Based on a survey of the 100S, some young people are invited directly by the career counselling service.

Registration for a counseling session

- Registration for counseling can be done by either party (the adolescent, the parents or the teacher).
- In addition, it is also possible to register with the Vocational, Academic and Career Counseling Service by telephone or by e-mail. The relevant information can be found in this flyer, on the school website or at

How do I recognize the need for counselling?

If you as a parent are concerned with any of the questions below, counselling at the BSL may be worth exploring:

- Which occupations match my child's interests and strengths?
- Should my child choose basic vocational training or middle school?
- Is the school performance sufficient for the desired occupation or a secondary school?
- What plan B / career alternatives are there?
- What to do if the search for an apprenticeship has not been successful (yet)?
- What bridge services might be appropriate in my child's situation?
